the backup butler

Forget manual backups!

Wouldn't it be great if your company had its own "butler" to take care of backup and data security, leaving you free to concentrate on daily critical core business?

With SWISSVAULT you can now enjoy the hassle-free fully automated data backup system via the Internet. SWISSVAULT – the backup butler, is a fully automated and autonomous online daily backup application – no manual procedures are required! No more expensive consulting, complex installations, juggling with hardware and software compatibility issues, loading and unloading backup media, or figuring where to store your data assets.

The backup butler is always there, quickly and automatically gathering your business-critical data and sending it into ultimate safekeeping. And because the backup butler comes from Switzerland, you can expect the highest standards of quality, confidentiality and security. Encryption comes with maximum security at 448-bit, with vaulting to SWISS FORT KNOX, Europe's most secured data center, built inside the Swiss Alps! Perhaps the only un-Swiss thing about the service is its surprising affordability. The financial and manpower savings give you more options for allocating business resources.
